The Democratic party for three full generations was the guardian of American liberty, and preserved inviolate this rich legacy which was bequeathed to us tarough the bloody testaments of nobie generations of giorious men who willingly offered themselves in sacrifice to secure it. This legacy must not be squandered or shrown away. The Democratic party has much more to accomplish than your Convention can or is expected to do. It stands an unbroken army arrayed against tests and test oaths other than those prescribed by the Constitution, and against those monstrous retrospective test oaths which were never written in the English language, muca less adopted by a deliberative body, until they were forced upon the country by the present legislative mob called the Congress of the United States.

The resolutions of 1798-9 were the great expositions of Democratic truth. They have been revived by Kentucky in her late glorious election, and by 40 000 majority. A majority of more than 1 000,000 of the people of the United States are Democratic. To them we look with hope for rescue. Their vores, cast for true men, is the only solution of cur evils. I sincerely trust your Convention will do well its specific work in such a manner as will meet the Democratic party, when it may assemble to receive your co operation. Insanuech as I think your Convention.

Democratic party, when it may assemble to receive your co operation. Inasmuch as I think your Convention can best sustain the President, under the guidance of those who placed him in power, who have concluded to abandon the Democratic organization, among whom I am not included, I must respectfully return to you my certificate of appointment. ment. I sm, very truly, your obedient servant, HENRY CLAY DEAN.

The next item of excitement was the with-drawal of Vallandigham and his Democratic colleagues from Ohio. This was done in view of the fact that his presence was acknowledged. on all sides, to be impolitic and inexpedient. It was probable that he would not have been suffered to enter the Convention as a delegate, even if he had not voluntarily retired.

even if he had not voluntarily retired.

Among others whose absence has created a great deal of talk, are Alexander H. Stephens, of Georgia; General Dix, Judge Russell, James T. Brady, and "Sunset" Cox, of New York; General G. W. Morgan and Hon. George H. Pendleton, of Ohio; Frank Blair, of Missour; Hon. A. J. Kuykendall and General McClernand, of Illinois; General Custer, of Michigan; General Coxternand, or Illinois; General Custer, of Michigan; General of Illinois; General Custer, of Michigan; General of Hinois; General Coster, of Michael, General Couch, Hon. George Ashmun, and John Quincy Adams, of Massichusetts. Senator Guthrie, of Kentucky; Hon. William C. Rives and Hou. A. H. H. Stuart, of Virginia; Emerson Etheridge, of Tennessee: Hon. William A. Graham, of North Carolina; and ex-President Burnett, of Texas. Stephens has been here, but for some unexplained reason he has travelled back to Washington, where he is now supposed to be in consultation with the President.

The Wigwam is at last completed, and the delegates are rapidly arriving. The meeting will be called to order at noon. The representatives of the press are already taking the positions assigned them, Messrs, Cazaran, Ristine, Tooley, Ambruster, Rossington, and Hollingsworth, the special reporters of THE EVENING TELEGRAPH, are on the ground and prepared for business.

WIGWAM, August 14, 11:30 A. M .- There is the best authority for stating that Valiandigham has written a letter withdrawing from the Convention. The temporary organization of the Convention will be held at the Wigwam.

Before the Meeting.

WIGWAM, August 14, 11:30 A. M .- The first day of the Convention is commencing in rather a disorderly manner, consequent upon the unfinished state of the building. Up to the present time the Wigwam has been crowded by gazing loungers, and a few of the leading delegates. Senators Cowan and Johnson are walking on the floor; the reporters are talking over their seats; the noise of hammering is sounding; the grit of the saw forming most unmusical obligato accompaniments to the jar of discord; noises which might be interpreted as ominous of future

Postmaster-General Randall arrived early, with the leading members of several delegations. A large band of music is in attendance, and is discoursing national and spirited music previous to the organization of the Convention. Historians of the Convention,

The New York papers have a strong force of reporters here. The New York Times has sent down Mr. Howard to take charge of its extensive corps; the New York Herald has sent Mr. Hays; the New York Tribune has sent Mr. Young, one of Forney's old "friends." The New York World has sent Mr. Clarke; the Washington Intelligencer is represented by L. A. Whitely and Mr. Snow; and every leading paper in the Union has picked its men with the same care and judgment. Ben Perley Poore is here for the Boston Journal, and Mr. Andrews for the Boston Advertiser. The official report is being made under the supervision of Mr. Whitely, by Messrs, Cayaran, Ristine, and Tooley.

The public journalists of the country are much indebted to Mr. Whitely for his incessant industry and care in providing them with places, and in impressing upon the committee the importance of making the best arrangements that circumstances and limited time would allow.

Colorado's Last Appeal. Mr. William Cornell Jewett has just handed

the following manifesto to our reporters:-WIGWAM OF THE JOHNSON CONVENTION, PHILA-DELPHIA, August 14, 1866. - Senator Doolittle: informed Senator Cowan that both you and the President were wrong in not having ap-pealed to the people for legitimate representation to day, in place of as now, public men.

Unless you adjourn under a transfer of power to the people for a future convention, your Convention will prove powerless, and you will have brever lost position and power with the people, who must soon assume power or see the republic destroyed.

I now tell you further. You have again done wrong in allowing Wood to withdraw, and if Vallandigham withdraws, or be voted out of the Conventisn, the people must doesn it a proof that your Convention want no sentinels of liberty in their midst.

Monument to the Daughter of General Lee. The citizens of Warren, Va., have just erected a monument to the memory of a daughter of General Lee, bearing the following inscription: On the tront, which looks towards the west, "Annie C. Lee, daughter of General R. E. Lee and Mary Custis Lee."

On the south side, "Born at Arlington, June 18, 1839, and died at the Wnite Suiphur Springs, Warren county, N. C., October 20, 1862." On the north side are the last lines of a favorite hymn, which the young lady asked for when dying:-

"Perfect and true are all His ways,

Whom heaven adores and earth obeys." General Lee was invited to be present at the erection of the monument, but sent this letter:-ROCKBRIDGE BATHS, 25th July.-Ladies;-I have read with deep emotion your letter of the 17th instant, inviting myself and family to witness the erection of a monument over the remains of my daughter, at Warren Wnite Sulphur Springs, on the 8th of next month.

I do not know how to express to you my thanks for your great kindness to her while living, and for your affectionate remembrance of her since dead.

My gratitude for your attention and consideration will continue through life, and my prayers will be daily offered to the throne of the most High for His boundless blessings upon

I have always cherished the intention of visiting the tomb of her who never gave me aught but pleasure: but to afford me the satisfaction which I crave, it must be attended with more privacy than I can hope for on the occasion you propose.

But there are more controlling considerations which will prevent my being present. Her mother, who for years has been afflicted with a paintul disease, which has reduced her to a state of helplessness, is this far on her way to the mineral springs which are considered the best calculated to afford her relief. My attendance is necessary to her in her journey, and the few weeks I have now at my disposal is the only time which can be devoted to this purpose.

But though absent in person, my heart will be with you, and my sorrows and devotions will be mingled with yours.

I hope my eldest son and daughter may be able to be present with you; but as they are distant from me, I cannot tell under what circumstances your invitation may find them. I feel certain, however, that nothing but necessity will prevent their attendance. I inclose, according to your request, the date of my daughter's birth, and the inscription proposed for the monument over her tomb The latter are the last lines of the hymn which she asked for just before her death. I am, with great respect, your obedient ser-

The changes which have taken place in Germany are of a national German, not an international character, and convey no menace or danger to France.

Withdrawal of George Francis Train-His Reasons in Full-Advice to the President and Leaders of the New Party. Etc.

Mr. Train has handed the following documents to our reporters for transmission and publication:-

WITHDRAWAL. NEBBASKA DELEGATION.

Convention, morning, Parlor No. 5, August 14, 1866. To the Executive Committee:- My proxy is in your hands; I wanted harmony. We have got it. Some time since I proposed to withdraw if one or two others would. They kept their promise; I keep mine.

The following despatch to the President expresses my views, and I congratulate you all on the result:-

DESPATCH TO THE PRESIDENT.

Avgust 14, 1866.
To the President of the United states, Washington, D. C .: - Your Convention is already a sigantic success; all harmonious; everybody shaking hands; National Union party a great fact; conservative Congress secured. George Francis Train, Nebraska Delegation. (Signed)

"The Union must and shall be preserved," "The Union must and shall be restored," said

One million of Irish votes, representing six millions of the Irish race in America (instead of asking the Convention to pass a resolution friendly to Irish nationality), respectfully offer the following platform for its consideration:—

THE IRISH-AMERICAN PLATFORM. "We pledge our lives, our fortunes, and our sacred honor to maintain the Union, the Constitution, and the Laws." THE NATIONAL UNION PARTY.

Permit me to add a suggestion:-Tuesday—Organize. Wednesday—Pass Resolutions. Thursday—Adjourn.

Friday, and every day till fall elections, all the delegates should make speeches for the National Union Party, thereby burying forever the two offensive words—Democrat and Republican.

GEORGE FRANCIS TRAIN. Sincerely, NATIONAL UNION CONVENTION.

The Opening Scenes-Exciting Incidents. Wigwam, 12 o'clock.-Arrangements are now being made for the assembling of the Convention. The number of delegates present is comparatively small, owing to the uncertainty of the arrangements, and the distance of the place of meeting from the centre of the city.

The Executive Committee are all present. It is generally behaved that Vallandingham's letter will be read at the Convention to-day.

The exterior of the Wigwam, as the delegates and spectators took their way thither this morning, presented an attractive and bustling scene. The numerous booths for the sale of meat and drink, against the proprietors of which the authorities of the city yesterday commenced criminal proceedings were still in full blast, and evidently doing all the business that their incomplete arrangements admitted of.

The Wigwam itself was almost finished, a large force of workmen being engaged in giving the last touches to the roof. Around the entrances was a large and noisy crowd, requiring the vigliant exertions of a large force of policemen to keep them at bay.

The scene on entering the Wigwam was quite grand. At 12 o'clock, noon, the floor was well filled with delegates, while the galleries contained a good sprinkling of spectators. The latter were not out in force, however, as it was understood that nothing would be done to-day except to effect an organization.

The decorations of the interior of the Wigwam are the first thing that claims our attention. The stage at the rear of the building, on which the officers of the Convention were to be seated, was neatly decorated. Two large flags were festooned together, with the field of the one adjacent to the other. Over the junction, another large flags was drooped, bearing on its centre the coat-of-arms of Pennsylvania, surrounded by a wreath of evergreen. Above all this is a large canvas banner, containing the names of the several States in the form of an arch, under which is the inscription, "United we stand, divided we fall,"

Around the sides of the Wigwam, above the galleries, the national colors were festooned. with the coats-of arms of the different States.

While the Wigwam was gradually filling up the band amused the audience by various martial strains. This was interrupted by a grand outburst of applause, oecasioned by the entrance of the delegates from South Carolina and Massachusetts, arm in arm. The delegates mounted the seats with a unanimous impulse, and shouted themselves hoarse, amid the waving of hats and handkerchiefs.

The excitement thus caused had barely died away, when the band struck up with the strains of "Dixie," which were given amid thunders of applause. The "Star Spangled Banner,"
"Yankee Doodle," and "Rally round the Flag. Boys," followed with a like boisterous reception These preliminaries were interrupted at halfpast twelve by the appearance of General John A. Dix as temporary chairman of the Conven-tion. The reception which he met with was enthusiastic in the extreme. During the speech which followed, the applause was loud and frequent. After every sentence that fell from the veteran's lips he was compelled to pause, while his hearers gave vent to their joyful concurrence in the views which he announced.
